NOTICE OF EXAMINATIONS

OF

MASTERS AND MATES OF "FOREIGN-GOING SHIPS,"

AND OF

"HOME TRADE PASSENGER SHIPS,"

Established in pursuance of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854,

AND OF

VOLUNTARY EXAMINATIONS IN STEAM.

1. UNDER the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, no "Foreign-going Ship" * or "Home Trade Passenger Ship" * can obtain a clearance or transire, or legally proceed to sea, from any port in the United Kingdom unless the Master thereof, and in the case of a Foreign-going Ship the First and Second Mates or Only Mate (as the case may be), and in the case of a "Home Trade Passenger Ship" the First or Only Mate (as the case may be), have obtained and possess valid Certificates, either of Competency or Service, appropriate to their several stations in such ship, or of a higher grade; and no such ship, if of one hundred tons burden or upwards, can legally proceed to sea unless at least one officer besides the Master has obtained and possesses a valid Certificate, appropriate to the grade of Only Mate therein, or to a higher grade; and every person who, having been engaged to serve as Master or as First, or Second, or Only Mate of any "Foreign-going Ship," or as Master or First or Only Mate of a "Home Trade Passenger Ship," goes to sea as such Master or Mate without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a Certificate as the Act requires, or who employs any person as Master or First, Second, or Only Mate of any "Foreign-going Ship," or as Master or First or Only Mate of any "Home Trade Passenger Ship," without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such Certificate, for each offence incurs a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

2. Every Certificate of Competency for a "Foreign-going Ship" is to be deemed to be of a higher grade than the corresponding Certificate for a "Home Trade Passenger Ship," and entitles the lawful holder to go to sea in the corresponding grade in such last-mentioned Ship; but, no Certificate for a "Home Trade Passenger Ship" entitles the holder to go to sea as Master or Mate of a "Foreign-going Ship."

3. A Certificate of Service entitles an Officer, who had already served as either Master or Mate in a British Foreign-going Ship before the 1st of January, 1851, or as Master or Mate in a Home Trade Passenger Ship before the 1st of January, 1854, to serve in those capacities again; and it also entitles an Officer who has attained or attains the rank of Lieutenant, Master, Passed Mate, or Second Master, or any higher rank in the service of Her Majesty or of the late East India Company, to serve as Master of a British Merchant Ship, and may be had by application to the Registrar-General of Seamen, Adelaide Place, London Bridge, or to any Shipping Master in the Outports, on the transmission and verification of the necessary certificates and testimonials.

4. Certificates of Competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations, and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose Examiners have been appointed under the Local Marine Boards, and arrangements have been made for holding the examinations at the several ports upon the days specified against them; and these days are so arranged for general convenience, that a candidate wishing to proceed to sea, and missing the day at his own port, may proceed to another port where an examination is coming forward. The days for commencing the examinations at the various ports are set forth in pages 8 to 11 of this work.

5. Applicants for examination must give their names to the Shipping Master, or to the Local Marine Board at the place where they intend to be examined, on or before the day of examination, and must conform to any regulations in this respect which may be laid down by the Local Marine Board; and if this be not done, delay may be occasioned.

6. Testimonials of character, and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct on board ship, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. As such testimonials may have to be forwarded to the office of the Registrar-General of Seamen

* By a "Foreign-going Ship" is meant one which is bound to some place out of the United Kingdom, beyond the limits included between the river Elbe and Brest; and by a "Home Trade Passenger Ship" is meant any Home Trade Ship employed in carrying passengers; and it is to be observed that Foreign Steam Ships when employed in carrying passengers between Places in the United Kingdom are subject to all the Provisions of the Act, as regards certificates of Masters and Mates, to which British Steam Ships are subject (s. 291).

in London for verification before any certificates can be granted, it is desirable that candidates should lodge them as early as possible. Testimonials of servitude on board Foreign Vessels before being received by the Examiners, are to be confirmed either by the endorsement of the Consul of the Country to which the ship belongs, or by some other recognised official authority of that Country, or by thet estimony of some credible person on the spot having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. Upon application to the Shipping Master candidates will be supplied with a form, which they will be required to fill up and lodge with their testimonials in the hands of the Examiners.

7. The examinations will commence early in the forenoon on the days before mentioned, and be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Shipping Master's list on the day of examination are examined.

8. The qualifications required for the several ranks under-mentioned, are as follow. (N.B. Where the Local Marine Board are in every respect satisfied with the testimonials of a candidate, service in the Coasting Trade may be allowed to count as service in order to qualify him for examination for a Certificate of Competency for Foreign-going Ships as a Mate; and two years' service as Mate in the Coasting Trade may be allowed to count as service for a Master's Certificate, provided the candidate's name has been entered as Mate on the Coasting Articles, and provided he has already passed an examination.)

A SECOND MATE must be seventeen years of age, and must have been four years at sea.

In NAVIGATION.—He must write a legible hand, and understand the first five rules of arithmetic and the use of logarithms. He must be able to work a day's work complete, including the bearings and distance of the port he is bound to, by Mercator's method; to correct the sun's declination for longitude, and find his latitude by meridian altitude of the sun; and work such other easy problems of a like nature, as may be put to him. He must understand the use of the sextant, and be able to observe with it, and read off the arc.

In SEAMANSHIP.— He must give satisfactory answers as to the rigging and unrigging of ships, stowing of holds, &c.; must understand the measurement of the log-line, glass, and lead-line; be conversant with the rule of the road, as regards both steamers and sailing vessels, and the lights and fog signals carried by them.

AN ONLY MATE must be nineteen years of age, and have been five years at sea.

In NAVIGATION.—In addition to the qualification required for a Second Mate, an Only Mate must be able to observe and calculate the amplitude of the sun, and deduce the variation of the compass therefrom, and be able to find the longitude by chronometer by the usual methods. He must know how to lay off the place of the ship on the chart, both by bearings of known objects, and by latitude and longitude. He must be able to determine the error of a sextant and adjust it, and find the time of high water from the known time at full and change.

In SEAMANSHIP.—In addition to what is required by a Second Mate, he must know how to moor and unmoor, and to keep a clear anchor; to carry out an anchor; to stow a hold, and make the requisite entries in the ship's log. He will also be questioned as to his knowledge of the use and management of the mortar and rocket lines in the case of the stranding of a vessel, as explained in the official Log-Book.

A FIRST MATE must be nineteen years of age, and have served five years at sea, of which one year must have been as either Second or Only Mate, or as both.*

In NAVIGATION.—In addition to the qualification required for an Only Mate, he must be able to observe azimuths and compute the variation; to compare chronometers and keep their rates, and find the longitude by them from an observation by the sun; to work the latitude by single altitude of the sun off the meridian; and be able to use and adjust the sextant by the sun.

In SEAMANSHIP.—In addition to the qualification necessary for an Only Mate, a more extensive knowledge of seamanship will be required, as to shifting large spars and sails, managing a ship in stormy weather, taking in and making sail, shifting yards and masts, &c., and getting heavy weights, anchors, &c., in and out; casting a ship on a lee-shore; and to secure the masts in the event of accident to the bowsprit.

A MASTER must be twenty-one years of age, and have been six years at sea, of which one year must have been as First or Only Mate, and one year as Second Mate; or two years as First and Only Mate.*

In addition to the qualification for a First Mate, he must be able to find the latitude by a star, &c. He will be asked questions as to the nature of the attraction of the ship's iron upon the compass, and as to the method of determining it. He will be examined in so much of the Laws of the Tides as is necessary to enable him to shape a course, and to compare his soundings with the depths marked on the charts. He will be examined as to his competency to construct rafts, and as to his resources for the preservation of the ship's crew in the event of wreck. He must possess a knowledge of what he is required to do by law; as to entry and discharge, and the management of his crew; and as to penalties and entries to be made in the official log. He will be questioned as to his knowledge of invoices, charterparty, Lloyd's agent, and as to the nature of bottomry; and he must be acquainted with the leading lights of the channel he has been accustomed to navigate, or which he is going to use.

In cases where an applicant for a certificate as Master Ordinary has only served in a fore and aft rigged vessel, and is ignorant of the management of a square rigged vessel, he may obtain a certificate on which the words "fore and aft rigged vessel" will be written. This certificate does not entitle him to command a square rigged ship. This is not, however, to apply to Mates, who, being younger men, are expected for the future to learn their business completely.

AN EXTRA MASTER'S EXAMINATION is voluntary and intended for such persons as wish to prove their superior qualifications.

In NAVIGATION.—As the vessels which such Masters will command frequently make long voyages, to the East Indies, and the Pacific, &c., the candidates will be required to work a lunar observation by both sun and star, to determine the latitude by the moon and star, by Polar star off the meridian, and also by double altitude of the sun, and to verify the result by Sumner's method. He must be able to calculate the altitudes of the sun or star when they cannot be observed, for the purposes of lunars, also to find the error of a watch by the method of equal altitudes, to correct the altitudes observed with an artificial horizon.

* Service in a superior capacity is in all cases to be equivalent to service in an inferior capacity.

He must understand how to observe and apply the deviation of the compass; and to deduce the set and rate of the current from the D.R. and observation. He will be required to explain the nature of great circle sailing, and know how to apply practically that knowledge, but he will not be required to go into the calculations. He must be acquainted with the law of storms, so far as to know how he may probably best escape those tempests common to the East and West Indies, and known as hurricanes.

In SEAMANSHIP.—The extra Examination will consist of an inquiry into the competency of the party to heave a ship down, in case of accident befalling her abroad; of getting lower masts in and out; and to perform such other operations of a like nature as the Examiner may consider necessary.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR CERTIFICATES OF COMPETENCY FOR "HOME TRADE PASSENGER SHIPS."

A MATE must write a legible hand, and understand the first four rules of arithmetic. He must know and understand the rule of the road, and describe and show that he understands the Admiralty regulations as to lights. He must be able to take a bearing by compass, and prick off the ship's course on a chart. He must know the marks in the lead-line, and be able to work and heave the log.

A MASTER must have served one year as a Mate in the Foreign or Home Trade. In addition to the qualifications required for a Mate, he must show that he is capable of navigating a ship along any coast, for which purpose he will be required to draw upon a chart produced by the Examiner the courses and distances he would run along shore from headland to headland, and to give in writing the courses and distances corrected for variation, and the bearings of the headlands and lights, as well as to show when the courses should be altered, either to clear any dangers or to adapt it to the coast. He must understand how to make his soundings according to the state of the tide. He will also be questioned as to his knowledge of the use and management of the mortar and rocket lines in the case of the stranding of a vessel, as explained in the official Log-Book.

A first class Pilot may be examined for a Master's Certificate of competency for Home Trade Passenger Ships, notwithstanding that he may not have served in the capacity of Mate.

General Rules as to Examinations and Fees.

9. The candidates will be allowed to work out the various problems according to the method and the tables they have been accustomed to use, and will be allowed five hours to perform the work; at the expiration of which, if they have not finished, they will be declared to have failed, unless the Local Marine Board see fit to extend the time.

Fees to be paid by Applicants for Examination.

10. The fee for examination must be paid to the Shipping Master. If a candidate fail in his examination, half the fee he has paid will be returned to him by the Shipping Master on his producing a document which will be given him by the Examiner. The fees are as follow :—

FOR "FOREIGN-GOING SHIPS."

Second Mate	1	0	0
First and Only Mate, if previously possessing an inferior Certificate	0	10	0
If not	1	0	0
Master, whether Extra or Ordinary	2	0	0
Master, if previously in possession of a Certificate "For fore and aft rigged vessels"	1	0	0

FOR "HOME TRADE PASSENGER SHIPS."

11. Any one who is in possession of a Master's Certificate of competency for a Foreign-going ship, may pass an extra Examination without payment of any fee; but if he fails in his first Examination, half a Master's fee will be charged for every subsequent attempt.

12. If the applicant passes he will receive a document from the Examiner, which will entitle him to receive his Certificate of Competency from the Shipping Master at the port to which he has directed it to be forwarded. If his testimonials have been sent to the Registrar-General of Seamen to be verified, they will be returned with his Certificate.

13. If an applicant is examined for a higher rank and fails, but passes an Examination of a lower grade, he may receive a Certificate accordingly, but no part of the fee will be returned.

14. In all cases of failure the candidate must be re-examined de novo, and in case of failure in Seamanship a candidate will not be examined until after a lapse of SIX MONTHS, to give him time to gain experience.

15. As the Examinations of Masters and Mates are made compulsory, the qualifications have been kept as low as possible; but it must be distinctly understood that it is the intention of the Board of Trade to raise the standard from time to time, whenever, as will no doubt be the case, the general attainments of officers in the Merchant Service shall render it possible to do so without inconvenience; and Officers are strongly urged to employ their leisure hours, when in port, in the acquirement of the knowledge necessary to enable them to pass their examinations; and Masters will do well to permit Apprentices and junior Officers to attend schools of instruction, and to afford them as much time for this purpose as possible.

EXAMINATIONS IN STEAM.

16. Arrangements have been made for giving to those Masters, and First or Only Mates who desire to do so, an opportunity of undergoing an examination as to their practical knowledge of the use and working of the steam engine.

17. These examinations are conducted under the superintendence of the Local Marine Boards, at such times as they may appoint for the purpose; and the Examiners are selected by the Board of Trade, from the engineer surveyors appointed under the fourth part of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.

18. Any such person desiring to be so examined must hand in to the Shipping Master a statement in writing to that effect on a Schedule EE. If he is already possessed of a Certificate of Competency, he must deliver this statement with his certificate to the Shipping Master, at such time as the Local Marine Board may appoint for the purpose.

19. A fee of one pound must be paid; but if he fails, no part of the fee will be returned. If he passes, the report (FF) will be sent to the Board of Trade, and the Certificate of Competency with the form (EE) to the Registrar-General of Seamen; the words "Passed in Steam," with the date and place of examination, will then be entered on the Certificate and its counterpart, and the Certificate will be sent to the Shipping Master of the port named in the application (EE), to be delivered to the applicant in the usual manner.

The examination is viva voce, and extends to a general knowledge of the practical use and working of the steam engine, and of the various valves, fittings, and pieces of machinery connected with it. Intricate theoretical questions in calculations of horse power, or areas of cylinders and valves, or any of the more difficult questions which appertain to steam engines and boilers, will not be asked. The examination will, in fact, be confined to what a Master of a steam vessel may be called upon to perform in the case of the death, incapacity, or delinquency of the engineer.

If the applicant fails to answer some few of the questions, and yet, in the opinion of the Examiner, possesses such a competent knowledge of the parts of the engine generally, and such other practical knowledge of the subject as will enable him to effect the object in view, the Examiner will exercise his discretion as to whether a sufficiently high standard of knowledge has been attained, and pass him or not accordingly.

The Examiners will provide such drawings and working sections, on a sufficiently large scale, of the various parts of the steam-engine, and of the valves and slides, &c., as may be necessary, and will require the applicant to make use of them in giving his answers to the various questions put to him; and, if an opportunity offer, the applicant will be permitted, under the guidance of the Examiner, to start and stop the engine of some vessel which may have her steam up.

QUESTIONS

TO BE ANSWERED BY APPLICANTS UNDER EXAMINATION IN THE PRACTICAL USE OF THE STEAM ENGINE.

Explain the nature and use of the principal valves and cocks connected with the boilers and engines, commencing with the boilers.

Boiler Valves and Cocks.

1. Safety valves.
2. Reverse or atmospheric valves.
3. Communication or stop valves.
4. Feed valves.
5. Kingston valves.
6. Blow-off cocks.
7. Communication cocks.
8. The water gauge cocks.
9. The glass water gauge.
10. Steam gauge.
11. Hand-pump for boilers.

Engine Valves and Cocks.

1. Throttle valves.
2. The slide valves.
3. The expansion valves.
4. The escape valves on top and bottom of cylinder.
5. The blow-through valves.
6. The foot valve.
7. The delivering valve.
8. The air-pump bucket valves.
9. The injection valves and cocks.
10. Bilge-pump valves and cocks.
11. Stop or sluice valves to discharge pipes.
12. Jacket cocks.
13. The sniffling valves.

Boilers.

1. If the safety valves were set fast, how would you relieve the pressure on the boilers, if steam was up and could not make its escape?

2. How do you ascertain the saltness of the water in the boiler?

3. How would you manage to change the water in the boiler, if the blow-off cocks were set fast?

4. On examining the boilers, and they are found to be thin, what measures would you adopt to prevent accidents?

5. How would you keep the boilers free from salt and incrustation?

6. Is it requisite to have a hand-pump fitted to the boilers? if so, for what purpose?

7. Explain the use of the gauge-glasses and gauge-cocks, fitted on the boilers.

8. If the mercury was blown out of the steam-gauge by the pressure of steam in the boilers, what would you apprehend was the cause?

9. What would you do to relieve the pressure of the boilers?

10. How would you regulate the height or quantity of water in the boilers?

11. When the steam is up, how is the feed applied to the boilers?

12. When it is not up, what is necessary to be done before the fires are lighted?

13. When the engines are stopped, what precautions are necessary with regard to the water in the boiler?

Digitized by Google

14. What is meant by a boiler priming?
15. How would you prevent it doing so?
16. If the water in a boiler is suffered to get too low, what may be the consequences?
17. What height should the water stand in a common boiler above the flues?
18. What height should the water stand in a tubular boiler above the tubes?
19. If any of the tubes were damaged by the fire, or leaky, what would you do, supposing you could not shift them?
20. How do you detect the pressure of steam in a boiler?
21. If the water in a boiler is suffered to get too high, what might be the consequences?
22. How would you know when the water in the boiler requires changing?
23. Explain the use of the thermometer and hydrometer.

Engines.

24. Explain the use of the cylinders.
25. Explain the use of the air pump.
26. Explain the use of the condenser.
27. Explain the use of the eduction pipe.
28. Explain the use of the hot-water cistern.
29. Explain the use of the piston, and how fitted.
30. Explain the use of the stuffing-box and glands.
31. Explain the use of the parallel-motion rods.
32. Explain the use of the excentric, and how fitted.
33. Explain the use of the starting-lever.
34. Explain the use of the barometer.
35. Explain the use of the steam-gauge.
36. The vessel is alongside the wharf, proceed to get the steam up.
37. When the steam is up, how is it applied to the engine to set it in motion?
38. What precaution is necessary before the engine is set in motion?
39. How do you start the engine?
40. Is it necessary to move the engines by hand a turn or two before starting?
41. The engines being started, regulate the injection-cocks, so as to keep them going at full or reduced speed.
42. What is the use of the injection?
43. How is the vacuum maintained in a condensing engine?
44. How do you know when there is too much injection?
45. How do you know when there is not enough injection?
46. If the injection was not shut off when the engines are stopped, what would happen?
47. If the condenser reject the injection, what would you do?
48. Would it be advantageous if an injection-pipe was fitted so as to take injection from the bilge, if required.
49. If water should get into the cylinder, what might be the consequence?
50. In running free with a heavy sea and a jump upon the engines, what precautions would you take to endeavour to prevent damage to the engines?
51. If one engine be damaged, what would you do in order to proceed?
52. If the excentric should break, could the engines still be worked?
53. If a bearing becomes heated, what would you do?
54. How would you slow an engine?
55. How would you stop an engine?
56. Wherein does a high-pressure differ from a low-pressure engine?
57. How do you admit tallow into the cylinders, when the engines are at work, for the purpose of lubricating the pistons?
58. What is meant by working the engines expansively?
59. How would you disconnect the engines if there was no disconnecting gear fitted?
60. What is meant by throwing the engines out of gear?
61. Why have two feed-pumps fitted, say one to each engine?
62. Is it requisite to have branch pipes fitted to the feed-pumps? if so, for what purpose?

NOTE.—A person possessing a Master's Certificate, whether of competency or service, is eligible to command any vessel of whatsoever tonnage, and either certificate is sufficient for clearance at the Custom House, unless the conditions of the Charterparty of vessels taken up by Government for the conveyance of troops, stores, or emigrants, and also the Regulations of the principal Steam Packet Companies, require that the Master and principal officers shall possess Certificates of competency.

The First Mate may engage as Mate of any kind.

The Only Mate as Mate when there is no other; or as Second Mate when there is a First Mate.

The Second Mate is not appropriate for any superior station, and must be employed only in cases where a First Mate is also engaged.

A Certificate of Competency for a Foreign-going ship is equivalent to a Certificate of equal or lower grade for a Home-trade Passenger Ship, and entitles the holder to fill the situation of Master or Mate, as the case may be.

Certificates of Competency or Service may be either of a grade appropriate to the Stations held for the time being, or of any superior grade.

NOTE 1.—Section 224 of the "Merchant Shipping Act, 1854," contains the following provisions, viz.:—"The following rules shall be observed with respect to medicines, medical stores, and anti-scorbutics; that is to say: (1.) The Board of Trade shall from time to time issue and cause to be published a scale of medicines and medical stores suitable to accidents and diseases arising on sea voyages. (2.) The owner of every ship navigating between the United Kingdom and any place out of the same, shall provide, and cause to be constantly kept on board such ship, a supply of such medicines and medical stores in accordance with the said scale. And if, in any such ship as aforesaid, such medicines, medical stores, lime or lemon juice, or other articles, sugar and vinegar, as are hereinbefore required, are not provided and kept on board, as hereinbefore required, the Master or Owner shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds; and if the Master of any such ship, as aforesaid, neglects to serve out the lime or lemon juice, or other articles, sugar or vinegar, in the case and manner hereinbefore directed, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding five pounds; and if any Master is convicted in either of the last-mentioned penalties, and it appears that the offence is owing to the act or default of the Owner, such Master may recover the amount of such penalty, and the costs incurred by him, from the Owner.

NOTE 2.—In ships employed trading solely between places in Europe, or between places on the shores of the North Atlantic or Mediterranean, and in ships employed in the Greenland or Baffin's Bay trade, or in any of the Northern Fisheries, the proportion of the various articles above mentioned need not exceed the proportions mentioned in the second of the above columns, notwithstanding that the number of men and boys may exceed 20.

NOTE 3.—Passenger ships which are certified under the 44th section of the "Passengers' Act, 1855," to be duly supplied with medicines, need not be also provided with medicines or other articles according to the above scale.

HONORARY TESTIMONIALS.

Certificate
53. JOHN WILLIAM LANE. The passengers of the "Harbinger," on her outward-bound voyage to Australia, in 1853, presented him with a valuable service of plate, and those persons who returned to England by the same vessel presented him with a gold snuff-box, in appreciation of his valuable services as the commander.

54. DANIEL GEORGE MUNRO. In December, 1854, when in command of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company's vessel "Shanghai," Captain Munro rescued the crew of the American ship "Living Age," who were cast away on an uninhabited island in the China Seas, for which service he received a gold chronometer and chain from the President of the United States.

108. THOMAS SAMUEL SCOTT. The American Government awarded him a service of plate in acknowledgment of the services rendered to the crew and 18 passengers of the "John Gilpin," of Boston, and landing them in safety at Bahia.

416. THOMAS GEORGE BEAZLEY received a medal from the Hon. East India Company, for his exertions in the battles of Meeance and Hyderabad, whilst in command of the Company's steam-vessel "Nimrod," in 1843.

471. JOHN CASS. A silver snuff-box was presented to him by the passengers of the barque "Thetis," in October, 1845, "as a token of their regard and remembrance of his kind attention during the voyage to Calcutta."

498. WILLIAM WRIGHT. On landing the foreign emigrants at New York, from the "Katherine Stewart Forbes," in 1847, they presented to him a piece of plate, "as a token of their respect and esteem, and for his attention to them during the voyage from Antwerp."

525. ANTHONY KING NEWMAN TREMEARNE. The insurance offices and underwriters interested in the ship "Adelaide," which was saved from destruction on her voyage from South Australia to London, in 1853, after compensating the crew for their services, presented Captain Tremearne with £1000 and a silver tea-service for his unceasing attention.

545. HENRY TILLMAN received a telescope from the British Government for his kind and generous treatment to the passengers and crew of the "Joseph Somes," which ship was destroyed by fire when off the Island of Tristan d'Acunha.

Certificate
549. JOHN BULWER GODFREY. On arrival of the "Constance" at Adelaide, in November, 1849, after a passage of 77 days from Plymouth, Captain Godfrey was complimented by an invitation to a public dinner, and received the grateful thanks of his passengers for the ability and gentlemanly conduct displayed during the voyage. On arrival of the "Statesman," in September, 1852, from England in 83 days, the passengers presented him with 40 guineas, for the purchase of any article in accordance with his taste.

645. SAMUEL RICHARD DOKE. On the wreck of the "Superb," off the Minquiers, on 24th September, 1850, by his exertions he saved the lives of 30 persons. Several gentlemen who witnessed the promptitude displayed, presented him with a handsome silver cup.

871. THOMAS SHRUBSOLE BEAL. A silver salver and gold watch were presented to him in June, 1850, by the passengers from England to New Zealand, in the "Poictiers."

885. JAMES SPENCER EDWARDS. On arrival of the "Bussorah Merchant" at Port Adelaide, in December, 1848, the emigrants presented a gold watch and chain to Captain Edwards, as a mark of their gratitude for his attention during the voyage; and in October, 1849, a similar compliment was paid to him by the emigrants on their landing at Port Philip, when he received a large silver cup, knife, fork, and spoon. In May, 1850, at a dinner given by the cabin passengers, a sextant, valued at 30 guineas, was presented as a mark of their estimation of Captain Edwards's distinguished merits.

1077. HENRY COURTNEY LONEY. In September, 1849, the owners of the "Mahommed Shah" presented him with £50, for assistance rendered to that vessel when in a destitute condition at sea. The Names of Vessels displaying their appropriate distinguishing Signals when passing Signal Stations and Coast-Guard Stations will be duly reported.

THE following Circular has been issued by the Secretary of the Admiralty, July, 1857 :—

> "In order to benefit the Mercantile Interest of this country, my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty are pleased to sanction a Return being made to the Board of Trade, of the Official Number, and other particulars, of each Merchant Vessel signalized with, or spoken at sea, by Her Majesty's Ships and Vessels; and with this view I am desired to transmit to you herewith Copies of the Commercial Code of Signals, Copies of the Mercantile Navy List, and Forms in which the Official Number, &c., of the Vessel signalized with, is to be registered; and my Lords desire that you cause Copies of these to be issued to each sea-going Ship and Vessel under your orders, for the guidance of the Commanding Officer, who is to be instructed to fill in the Form, and afford the information required, transmitting the same to the Board of Trade as opportunities offer."

Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies has been pleased to introduce the Commercial Signal Book and the Mercantile Navy List into every Sea-board Station and Port of the British Possessions. These Signal Books are also furnished to Her Majesty's Consuls in Foreign Ports.

Extract from a Letter from the Secretary of the Honourable the East India Company, 5th August, 1857 :—

> "The Court has desired me to state that it is the intention to place the New Signal Code and Navy List on board their Ships, and they accordingly request to be furnished with One Hundred Copies for distribution amongst the East India Company's Fleet."

Extract from the Report of the Committee for managing the affairs of Lloyd's, 13th April, 1857 :—

> "The existing Codes, based with one exception on the numeral system, are set aside as complicated and inadequate. The arrangement of the New Code is such as to afford the same advantage to Foreigners that it extends to the British Marine, forming in fact an Universal Language of Signals, equally available to all Nations."

At a Meeting of the Liverpool Shipowners' Association, held on the 17th April, 1857, it was unanimously resolved—

> "That this Association strongly recommends the immediate adoption of the New Code of Signals, to the Shipowners of the Port of Liverpool."

Extract from Report of the Committee of the General Shipowners' Society, London, June 23rd, 1857 :—

> "Your Committee feel that the thanks of the Shipping Interest are due to those Gentlemen who have devoted so much time and labour in framing this New Code of Signals, which, from its comprehensiveness and distinctness, cannot in their opinion fail to be brought into general use, and prove of great practical utility."

It is necessary that Vessels chartered for the conveyance of Troops, Provisions, and Ordnance Stores, shall be provided with these Signals, in order to communicate with Ships of War.

The Colonial Land and Emigration Board, and the Honourable the East India Company, have made this stipulation with the Owners of all the Vessels chartered by them.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

RELATING TO THE COMMERCIAL CODE OF SIGNALS AND MERCANTILE NAVY LIST FOR THE USE OF ALL NATIONS.

Minute of the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade.

At the Council Chamber, Whitehall, the 2nd July, 1855, by the Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Council appointed for the consideration of all matters relating to Trade and Foreign Plantations, present:

THE LORD STANLEY OF ALDERLEY,
THE RIGHT HONOURABLE E. P. BOUVERIE,

My Lords are pleased to appoint the following Officers and Gentlemen as a Committee to inquire into and report upon the Subject of a Code of Signals to be used at Sea:—

Admiral F. W. Beechey, F.R.S., Chairman.
Captain C. R. D. Bethune, R.N.
Captain Robert Fitzroy, R.N.
Captain G. A. Halsted, R.N.
Captain H. Bonham Bax, H.C.S.
Captain George Denny, H.C.S.
Joseph Mondel, Esquire.
W. Chapman Harnett, Esquire.
The Registrar-General of Seamen.

STANLEY OF ALDERLEY.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON A CODE OF SIGNALS TO BE USED AT SEA.

TO THE LORDS OF THE COMMITTEE OF PRIVY COUNCIL FOR TRADE.

COMMITTEE ROOM, BOARD OF TRADE,
WHITEHALL, 24*th Sept.* 1856.

MY LORDS,

In pursuance of your Lordships' Minute of the 2nd July, 1855,* appointing us a Committee "to inquire into and report upon the subject of a Code of Signals to be used at Sea," we assembled on the 3rd of that month, and have since from time to time continued our meetings; and, having fully considered the subject, we have the honour to submit the following Report of our proceedings.

Before entering upon the general question of the formation of a New Code of Signals for the Mercantile Navy, we thought it right to examine such published Codes as have from time to time been in use in the Royal Navy and the British as well as Foreign Merchant Services. They are comprised in the following list:—

1. Admiralty Code	1808
2. Lynn's	1818
3. Squire's	1820
4. Admiralty	1826
5. Phillipps'	1836
6. Röhde's	1836
7. Raper's	1828
8. Admiralty (present Code).
9. Walker's	1841
10. Watson's	—
11. Rogers' (American)	1854
12. Reynold's (French)	1855
13. Marryatt's	1854 to 1856

* See Appendix A.

In addition to the above, several other Codes, more or less of a local or limited character, were noticed by us, as also various suggestions for signalling at sea that have been submitted to us, either directly or through the Board of Trade and other Departments of Government.

After carefully examining the modes of signalling adopted in these various codes and plans, we were of opinion that, although all were in some respects unsatisfactory in themselves, as not fulfilling all the requirements of the present day, yet there existed in them the elements for forming an improved Code for the use of Ships.

We had particularly to consider that, independently of a good system of Signals for effecting a Telegraphic communication between ships, one very important object in framing a system for the purpose was to provide, at the same time, facilities for making Ships' Names or Numbers.

The great advantage to be derived from an easy method of exchanging Ships' Names by Signals is obvious.

In a Report which was submitted to your Lordships by the Registrar-General of Seamen, in March, 1855 (a copy of which is annexed to this Report*), your Lordships' attention is drawn to the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, by which every British registered ship is compelled to have permanently marked on her main beam the number,—now generally described as her "Official Number,"—by which she is registered, which is entered upon her Certificate of Registry, and by which she may be at once identified without reference to her name.

These numbers will, it is calculated, amount to upwards of 40,000 in the first year after registry has become general; and as the cancelled numbers will not be renewed until a lapse of perhaps five years, it has been calculated that upwards of 50,000 numbers will be outstanding at one time, and that, consequently, that number must be provided for in the Code, in addition to the number required for Telegraphic purposes.

We next considered what principles should be laid down as the basis for the formation of an efficient Code, and resolved as follows:—

1. The Code ought to be comprehensive and clear, and not expensive.

* See Appendix B.

Digitized by Google

2. It ought to provide for not less than 20,000 distinct Signals, and should, besides, be capable of designating not less than 50,000 ships, with power of extension if required.
3. It should express the nature of the Signal made by the combination of the signs employed, and the more important Signals should be expressed by the more simple combinations.
4. A Signal should not consist of more than Four Flags or Symbols at one hoist.
5. A Signal should be made complete in one hoist in one place.
6. Signals should have the same meaning wherever shown.
7. The Signal Book should be so arranged, either numerically or alphabetically, in classes, as to admit of the subject being readily referred to, and provision should be made for future additions.
8. The Code should be so framed as to be capable of adaptation for international communication.

As regards the existing system of making Signals at sea, we submit the following observations:

The Code of Signals most generally used at this time on board both British and Foreign ships is that known as "Marryatt's." There is also a French Code by Captain Reynold, of the French Imperial Navy, which has been translated into English, and an American Code by Mr. Rogers, of Baltimore, in use in their respective countries, and, as we are informed, recognised by their respective Governments.

These Codes are all based on the Numeral System; that is to say, the Flags are numbered from 1 to 9, with a Cipher Flag (0), and the Signals are composed of one or more Flags, representing by numbers the words or sentences required to be indicated.

Perhaps the best argument in favour of this (the Numeral) system is the fact, that all the Codes in use (with the exception of the Vocabulary used in the Royal Navy) are based on it, and a Code on any other principle would be so far at variance with existing habits; but, whatever importance is attached to that circumstance, there are other considerations of equal weight which must not be lost sight of, and which have influenced us in forming an opinion on the merits of the system.

It is perhaps advisable briefly to submit to your Lordships the objections which it appears to us exist to that method of signalling.

If the number of Signals required were very limited, we believe that the Numeral System above referred to would be sufficient; but since it is intended to give the Official Numbers of Ships, and as a range of Numerals of not less than 70,000 will be required, we are of opinion that that system is quite inadequate.

It is obvious that to represent such Numbers as 22, 131, 444, 5656, &c., with only a single set of Flags, means must be devised to substitute some Sign—either a Flag or a Pendant—to represent the Numeral Flag already employed, and of which no duplicate is carried. This can only be accomplished with one set of Flags by the use of distinct Signs called "Substitutes or Repeaters," and which may be made to repeat the Flags for which they are designed to act as Substitutes; thus, by the following, which is the simplest method,

A	repeats	the 1st	Flag in the Hoist.
B	,,	2nd	,,
C	,,	3rd	,,

We think that there is great objection to the use of these Repeating Flags. Great caution is necessary in placing them, and there is always risk of making mistakes.

It also involves the necessity of making one Substitute repeat another Substitute, which is objectionable, but unavoidable.

If further proof were required that the use of Repeating Flags is to be avoided, we would refer to the Codes of Marryatt, Rogers, and Reynold, who have hitherto evaded their use by omitting in their respective Codes all, or nearly all, numbers in which the same numeral appears more than once, such as 44, 313, 6161, 8888, &c.; and by dispensing with the aid of these auxiliaries, they greatly lessen the capacity of their Codes, as is shown thus:

10 Numerals with 3 Repeaters would give	9999 Signals.
10 Numerals without the aid of Repeaters make only	5860 ,,
Showing a loss of . . .	4139 Numbers

in every 10,000 Signals.

Any given number may, however, be made with 10 Flags and 3 Repeaters, up to 9999; but a Numeral Code consisting of 13 Flags (if no more than 4 Flags are to be shown in one hoist, and if the Signal is to be complete in that hoist, and not divided by exhibiting a part of it in another place) must of necessity be limited to 9999 Signals.

It is true that in the Numeral Code, by the use of distinguishing or divisional Flags or Pendants, as many different series of numbers may be obtained as there are Pendants or Flags employed for the purpose, and that by changing the position of these distinguishing Flags the number of series may be multiplied.

The plan of obtaining high Numerals by both Marryatt's and Reynold's Codes proceeds on the above principle of distinguishing Pendants or Flags; that is to say, particular Flags designate certain classes of Signals, such as the "Telegraph" Flag and the "Rendezvous" Flag, which signify, respectively, either that you are conversing or are appointing a place of meeting; and Pendants are used for classifying ships according to the Colour of the Pendant employed. For the purpose also of increasing the Numeral power of the Signal Book (that is, of effecting a fresh series of Signals), the same Pendant may be placed at the top or bottom or in the middle of the hoist, and its value, i. e. its Numeral power, may be varied in each separate position. In all these Codes Five Flags in a Hoist are used to make high numbers; and in the latest edition of Marryatt's Code, Four Repeating Flags are employed for making consecutive numbers as high as 99,999. Mr. Rogers, in the present edition of his Code, does not employ Repeaters, but he has a scheme for so doing, in the same manner as by Marryatt's Code.

We found other means adopted for enlarging a Code of Signals, namely, by the use of distinguishing Pendants shown from another Masthead, or by dividing the Signal, and showing part on one Mast, and part elsewhere.

We have already referred to our decision, that in any efficient Code no more than Four Flags ought to be shown in one hoist, and that a Signal ought to be made in one hoist at one place.

Upon these grounds, therefore, the system of Numerals appeared to us to be defective for a comprehensive Code, as not being capable of designating in a consecutive Numerical Series 70,000 distinct Signals without at any time showing more than Four Flags for each Signal made; and it is clear, therefore, that it would have been inconsistent with the principles laid down to have proceeded with the framing of a Code upon the basis of a system of Numeral Signs.

Having thus set aside the Numeral System, we had to consider what other method would best meet the requirements of an efficient Code.

There was only one other method known to us by which the objects we had in view could be attained.

It was that of taking a number of Signs (or Flags) sufficient for the purpose, and by their transposition effecting a certain number of permutations, each different combination of two or more of the Signs so taken forming a Signal distinct in itself and having a particular signification.

We subjoin a Table showing the number of distinct Signals which ten or more Flags are capable, by permutation, of forming in hoists of from two to four Signs at a time in one place.

OF WHICH THE FOLLOWING NUMBERS OF SIGNS ARE CAPABLE.

Single Signs not reckoned.	With 10.	With 11.	With 12.	With 13.	With 14.	With 15.	With 16.	With 17.	With 18.	With 19.	With 20.

From the above Table it will be seen that 18 Flags will be requisite to give the number of Signals which we have stated to be necessary, i. e. 70,000 distinct Signals, with power of extension to 78,642 Signals, each Signal consisting of a hoist of not more than Four Flags.

The actual number (18) is only two more than vessels using Marryatt's Code now carry; and having decided upon this number, we proceeded to the naming of the Flags or Signs, in devising which it appeared to us—

1. That the characters should be familiar ones.
2. That they should recur in a well-known order, for facility of reference.

The letters of the alphabet seemed best adapted for the purpose, and we determined that it would be most convenient to assign to each of the 18 Flags a letter of the alphabet, leaving out the vowels.

The omission of the vowels was forced upon us from the circumstance, that by introducing them every objectionable word composed of four letters or less, not only in our own but in foreign languages, would appear in the Code in the course of the permutation of the letters of the alphabet.

Too much importance should not, however, be set upon the objection which naturally occurs, that the alphabet is thus incomplete, and that the power of spelling is apparently lost; for it should be understood that the letters are not used as letters, but as signs, characterising the different Flags by the most familiar method, and in an order well known.

The last consideration which occupied our attention was the colouring of the Flags to be used.

In determining this question, the following points were discussed:—

1. Whether Marryatt's Flags were the best adapted in shape and colour for signalling?
2. Whether Marryatt's Flags being generally in use on board Merchant Ships of this and Foreign Countries, and also, as we have found, at many Foreign Signal Stations, it would not be convenient to adopt them as far as possible?

We were not prepared to decide the first question in the affirmative, but considering the heavy expense of procuring a new set of Flags, and in deference to what appeared to be a general wish,—that Flags which are, and have been for many years, so generally in use in Merchant Ships, and with which mariners are familiar, should not, without very strong reasons, be dispensed with,—we determined to recommend the adoption of the Flags now employed in Marryatt's Code (with slight variations), as far as they were applicable.

In conformity with the foregoing Resolutions, a Signal Book has been prepared, and accompanies this Report.

In submitting this Volume, we have only to remark, as regards the general contents, that it does not materially differ from other Signal Books.

The general principles of the Code, and directions for its practical working, are explained in the commencement of the book; but we desire to point out to your Lordships the main advantages which it appears to us to possess over any other Code that we have had before us:

First, its comprehensiveness and distinctness, the combination of the Signs expressing the nature of the Signal made—two Flags or Symbols in a hoist always meaning either Danger or Urgency—and the Signals throughout being arranged in a consecutive series, so that any individual Signal, whether a word or a sentence, may readily be found; secondly, that the Flags and Pendants are so arranged as by their position to characterise the Signals made; thus,

In Signals made with Two Signs—

The Burgee uppermost represents	"Attention Signals."
A Pendant uppermost ,,	"Compass Signals."
And a square Flag uppermost represents	"Danger Signals."

In Signals composed of Four Signs—

The Burgee uppermost represents	"Geographical."
A Pendant uppermost ,,	"Vocabulary."
And a square Flag uppermost represents	"Ships' Names."

and thirdly, that the arrangement of the Code is such as to hold out to Foreigners the same advantages that it affords to our own marine.

Part I. is that which, by translation, may be made an Universal Language of Signals. It is intended that the corresponding combination of any two or more of the 18 Signal Flags which any Nation adopting the Commercial Code may please to employ shall always have the same meaning, in whatever language the Signal may be expressed; and it will only remain for those Nations who choose to adopt the Code, to make a Dictionary or Alphabetical Index to the words and sentences so arranged, which, corresponding with Part II. of the English Code, will be the Foreigners' National Vocabulary, as Part II. of our own Code is the English Vocabulary.

A further advantage is, that the International Signals, consisting of all such words and sentences as can ordinarily be required for any purpose, are confined within the limit of the 3-Flag Signals, excepting only the Geographical Table, which, from the number of places, &c., required to be indicated, it was not found possible to include within that limit.

In short, if an Englishman or a Foreigner desires, with such a code before him, to make a Signal, he is enabled to express his wishes by referring to the Alphabetical Part II. of his Code, and he will there find the combination of Letters, or Flags, which must be used. On the other hand, if an Englishman or a Foreigner wishes to decipher or make out any Signal taken from this Code, which is to be mutually intelligible, he is enabled to do so by referring to Part I. of his Signal Book, in which the meaning of the Signal displayed is at once obtained—that meaning being the same in all languages.

Part II. of the Code is the National Vocabulary and Index to the Signals arranged in Part I.; but it is far more comprehensive, and contains much that is not to be found in Part I.

This Part is alphabetically arranged throughout; and opposite to each word or sentence are placed the Letters or Signs by which it is to be expressed,—either to the right or to the left hand.

If the word or sentence required to be indicated has any Letters set against it to the right, it will be found in the International Part I., and can be used for communicating in a Foreign Language, but not otherwise.

We entertain the hope, that should the Code be appreciated and enter into general use, at some future day all Nations may agree to use one set of Flags for commercial purposes, and thus complete a mode of universal communication.

In the meantime, we recommend that Foreign Maritime States be invited to forward Plates of the Signal Flags which they have in use on board their own Merchant Ships, in order that a corresponding arrangement of Symbols may be mutually agreed upon, should they think proper to adopt the Code; but it should be borne in mind, that to reap the full benefit of the Code the Flags and Pendants to be employed ought to be in shape and order similar to those proposed by us.

In conclusion, we desire to explain the reasons which have decided us upon omitting the List of Ships from the Signal Book now presented.

In the first place, the number of British registered ships is so great, that we are of opinion that to have included the List would have increased the size of the volume to such an extent as to have rendered it too cumbrous as a book designed for ready reference, and, at the same time, it would have greatly enhanced its price; and, secondly, it would be very inconvenient and expensive to introduce a Code which must constantly be revised, it being essential that a List of Ships, to be of real use, should be periodically corrected.

About 40,000 Signals would have to be at once appropriated, and a list of 40,000 vessels to be alphabetically arranged as well; and it is needless to say that the above would form a book of considerable size.

Under these circumstances, we saw grave objections to the introduction into the present volume of the List of British Ships, which we consider will be better published in a separate form, as an Authorised Official List to which the Signals may be appropriated, as has been suggested to your Lordships in a letter from the Registrar-General of Seamen, a copy of which is appended to this Report.*

This List can be annually corrected, and should be sold at as cheap a rate as possible; and if it is found that the cost of its publication will not admit of its sale (without loss) at a low price we would suggest, that as this Official List will be a very valuable source of information, in whatever form it may be decided to publish it, both to the officers of the Government at home and abroad, as well as to the Shipping and Mercantile Community generally, your Lordships may consider whether a sum may not properly be granted out of the Mercantile Marine Fund towards the expense of a publication which, if widely circulated, would tend so greatly to the benefit of Shipping.

APPENDIX B.

General Register and Record Office of Seamen,
Custom House, London, March 30, 1855.

1. The Merchant Shipping Act of 1854 provides that, "from and after the 1st of May, 1855," to every British registered ship shall be appropriated an official number, to be entered upon her certificate of registry, and permanently marked upon her main beam.

2. And the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have been pleased to direct that such official number shall be assigned in continuous arithmetical succession, and attach invariably to the vessel's name, so as to insure, that through all changes of ownership or Port of Registry no two ships shall be numbered alike.

3. This regulation will greatly facilitate official operations, by the ready mode of identifying each particular vessel, and avoid the inconvenience now experienced, owing to many vessels belonging to the same port, and of the same tonnage, and bearing the same name, necessarily changing their identity when registered anew in other ports.

4. In order to extend the utility of this regulation to vessels already registered, their Lordships have been pleased to direct that a special official number shall be also assigned to all such vessels, to be marked upon the existing certificate of registry, when presented at any custom-house; and provision has been made for carrying this regulation into effect.

5. The identity of every particular vessel being thus established, the inconvenience that has heretofore existed will no longer be felt. But, great as is the advantage of this identity, the extent of the benefit of which the regulation is capable, will be but imperfectly realised, until means are devised and established for communicating these distinctive numbers between all ships passing at sea, and signalling to stations on shore.

6. The present number of British registered vessels amounts to about 35,000, and 1,500 new vessels are added annually. It will, therefore, be necessary to appropriate, in a signal book, at least 50,000 symbols, for the purpose of signifying the special numbers of these vessels.

7. There is no Code of Signals in existence which under its present arrangements, and with its present number of flags, is capable of accomplishing this (and other objects enumerated in paragraphs 11 and 12), without such complexity as would make the interpretation very difficult.

8. As it is of the highest importance that the community should not be deprived of the great benefit that must arise from the existence of an established means of general communication, it is essential to consider whether any of the Codes at present in use can be made available, by better arrangement, and a moderate addition to their flags, or in other respects applied to the purpose.

If such should be found practicable, it is desirable that one of them (perhaps that which has the greatest circulation) should be selected and brought into general operation.

9. But, whatever means may be adopted in these respects, it is certain, that when once an universal Code has been determined upon, the under-mentioned advantages will result.

10. First, it will afford a ready means of making known to signal stations, or when ships pass each other at sea, the identity of particular vessels, so that their progress or whereabouts may be correctly reported.

11. Secondly, of communicating at sea the wants and wishes of masters of vessels.

12. Thirdly, of extending the means of intercourse to the vessels of all countries, by the establishment of an International Code of Signals.

13. Such palpable advantages, capable of being realised by this beneficial regulation of special numbering, which establishes the principal element heretofore wanting, will, no doubt, speedily become apparent, and give rise to propositions, either for amending the present signal books, or publishing new ones; and as each of the existing Codes would probably be extended by its author, and the evil of the present complicated signals consequently perpetuated, the difficulty of remedy will be increased.

14. I hasten, therefore, to bring the matter under their Lordships' notice, in order to obviate the obstruction to establishing one universal Code, which the anticipated multiplicity of schemes will occasion.

15. And I respectfully submit that the immediate consideration of the matter in its several bearings becomes most necessary, not only for the reasons stated, but in order that the views of shipowners and others interested, and the sanction of their Lordships, may be obtained in favour of an established Code of Signals for the mercantile marine, which shall embrace all the requisites of such a scheme.

16. There are several Codes of Signals in operation at present, and it would (as before observed) be desirable to adopt the Flags, if not the text book, most generally used, provided they could be made sufficient for the purpose, so as to save expense.

17. It is obvious, however, that such a Code as would be practically useful, easily interpreted, and calculated for universal application, must deviate in many respects from any existing one, in order to avoid the complexities now so generally complained of.

18. As this proposition involves important objects calculated to facilitate the ends of commerce and navigation, and to establish a closer communion between maritime nations, and will require very careful consideration, in order that it may be well matured before it receives the public sanction, and the influential support necessary for its success, I therefore further submit that,—

19. Should their Lordships be pleased to approve of the proposal, whether, in the first place, it might not be desirable to ascertain the views of the Local Marine Boards, Lloyd's, and other mercantile bodies interested in so universal a method of communicating correctly the progress and whereabouts of trading vessels, and other objects attainable by a well-designed Code of Signals.

20. If after such reference, it should be determined to proceed in the matter, it might be desirable to form a committee to consider the subject, consisting of persons named by parties whose interests are concerned, or of members called together by the Board of Trade.

21. That the shipping offices, or customs, may be made available for correcting ships' Signal Books half yearly, and at the termination of each foreign voyage; and also for giving facilities to those who adopt the sanctioned Code.

22. That a competent person should be appointed to superintend the issue and correction of Signal Books, and the whole expense covered by small charges for the books, and for the periodical corrections.

23. For the original expense of five or six pounds for Flags,* and a yearly charge of one shilling for corrections, ship masters would be able to make known the progress of voyages to the public generally, but more particularly to the persons interested in the fate of every individual vessel, her crew and cargo.

I have, &c.

Registrar-General of Seamen.

APPENDIX C.

General Register and Record Office of Seamen,
Custom House, London, March 27, 1856.

Sir,—In compliance with their Lordships' directions that I should report fully upon the desirableness of extending the scope and utility of the "Mercantile Navy List," and printing therein lists of the registered vessels belonging to the British empire, with the official number by which each vessel is distinguished, together with any symbols that shall be devised by the Signal Committee now sitting for interpreting those numbers, so that the identity of a vessel may be intimated, without mistake, by a simple and ready process; also, as to the utility of the aforesaid system for official purposes, I beg leave to make the following statement:—

Having brought this matter under their Lordships' consideration in my letter of the 30th of March, 1855 (a copy of which is annexed †), their Lordships were pleased to refer my proposal to certain influential parties connected with the shipping interest, who generally concurred in the utility of establishing a means of signifying by Signals the official numbers assigned to every registered ship. This subject has accordingly received great attention from the committee appointed to consider the subject of Signals, who, it is understood, will shortly make their Report.

Meanwhile, the appropriation of the official numbers has been carried into effect, so far as can be accomplished until the return of those vessels from abroad which may not have obtained numbers in the colonial ports of the British empire.

The new mode of identifying ships is intended to supersede the one now in use, which, owing to many vessels bearing the same name, frequently leads to error, and always makes it necessary to specify certain particulars (in addition to the name), such as the port of registry, the number, and year of registry in that port, &c. &c.; the enumeration of which particulars (often changing with every change of ownership) is attended with trouble, delay, and uncertainty, but must be made known before a vessel can be correctly identified.

The appropriation of an exclusive number to every registered ship is not, however, sufficient in itself, and will not realise the utility of which the design is capable, unless a book of reference is prepared, issued, and from time to time corrected, so that (for official purposes) officers of Her

* Those already possessing the Flags in use would only require the additional ones.

Majesty's Navy, of the Board of Trade, the Customs, Coast Guard, Trinity House, Consuls in foreign ports, &c., &c., shall have an easy means of reference, and thus avoid or correct errors in reports respecting vessels, or their crews; and also that these officers may have the opportunity of comparing the official numbers indorsed on ships' certificates with those in the official List.

This List will show the particular numbers cancelled from time to time, and by this means obviate any inconvenience that may possibly arise from vessels assuming false or erroneous names or characters by means of obsolete registers.

The evident advantage of the present mode of identifying each ship by an official number, over the old system, has been universally admitted; and the requirement is readily complied with by ship owners and masters, as soon as opportunities for obtaining the official number occur; but the utility of which it is further capable might not be apparent (without further explanation) to those who have not given the matter much consideration. And as their Lordships may wish to ascertain the opinions of the shipping interest by reference to Lloyd's Committee, the Local Marine Boards, and the several Societies, it becomes desirable to point out the peculiar facilities which the regulation affords, not only for the official purposes above mentioned, but for the general and private interests of those concerned in trade.

The importance of correct reports and accounts of matters affecting shipping is apparent from the many journals and circulars established for this especial purpose, and in most newspapers shipping intelligence forms a prominent feature.

This is not to be wondered at, considering the vast number of interests concerned in the fate of life and property afloat; anything, therefore, that tends to facilitate or to insure the correctness of these reports will be eagerly appreciated.

Now, as every British registered ship is or will soon be distinguished by an especial number, unalterable so long as she is in existence, and independent of the other particulars enumerated on her certificate of registry, or other papers, such as port of registry, &c., &c.,—if an arrangement can be effected by which this number shall be represented by certain flags or symbols, the exhibition of it (the number), whether by writing or by signal, will always serve to identify the vessel, provided reference can be had to a correct book or list, in which such number and signal is entered opposite to the ship's name, accompanied by the particulars of the country, port, tonnage, &c.

By this means, wherever a ship might be met with, whether on the ocean or elsewhere, she would be individually known; and the consequence would be that more frequent and correct reports of the whereabouts of vessels and of their condition would be obtained,—for not only will the identity be correctly established, but the means of telegraphing increased, and the expense of transmitting intelligence reduced, by the abbreviation of the message.

Useful and necessary, therefore, as this regulation will become for official purposes, its value is most apparent in connection with commercial intercourse, and the superior facilities which it will afford for promoting the interests of trade and navigation.

Under these circumstances, it may be anticipated that the publication of a manual containing correct lists of vessels, with means of identifying them, and other particulars necessary for the information of the shipping interest, at such a price as shall render it generally available, will not only be acceptable to the large and influential class of persons concerned, but, when its utility is tested, it will probably in a short time obtain such a circulation as will repay the sum necessary to launch a book of so peculiar and elaborate a character; and that it will tend, in connection with the proposed Signal Book, to realise the hope of effecting an international communication between maritime states.

But even if this anticipation of obtaining a large circulation is not realised, I submit that it is desirable and expedient for the Board of Trade, in furtherance of the laws which are producing such beneficial results in our mercantile marine, to establish and maintain an official organ which shall authorise and make known the regulations that become necessary to be promulgated from time to time, in order to explain those laws; and also to obviate the plea of ignorance which the want of such an organ often suggests; by offering to the public a manual, by reference to which all persons may secure the advantages I have enumerated, and ascertain their position with respect to existing regulations, so as to avoid incurring penalties. I have, &c.
